

More presents than Santa's sleigh?

Make light work of carrying Christmas shopping

December 2010: If you are visiting Christmas markets abroad this year or even doing a spot of city-centre shopping, the odds are high that at some point you'll be carrying a multitude of oddly-shaped and possibly heavy bags. Visiting popular Christmas markets abroad makes the luggage dilemma even more pressing. How do you get it all home in one piece, together with your clothes, without spending the holiday flat on your back recovering from dragging all that weight around?

One solution could be the Classic hard case from Live Luggage. This extremely robust and spacious hard-shell case has a special anti-gravity handle which pivots out from the base and puts around 85% of the packed weight over the large, flat wheels. Perfect for pulling around heavy and bulky gifts, it's extra-secure too, with a TSA-approved lock to keep the contents safe. In the unlikely event of the case going missing, your case can be tracked using its unique Live Locator™ ID.

The Live Luggage Classic AG hard case is available in black. For a festive look, it comes with a red handle (although you can also choose from black, white, yellow or pink). It costs £275 from www.liveluggage.com or can be ordered by phone on +44 (0)1491 636393.
